Balkan Cabaret brings the passion and poetry of traditional ballads and favorite old standards from the cafés and cabarets of Belgrade, Sofia and Sarajevo and other Balkan cities from long before the influence of rock and roll. Their performance spans Sevdalinka ballads from Bosnia, Starigradski from Bulgaria, and old favorites of many generations from Croatia, Serbia, and Macedonia. There are songs for sitting and listening while enjoying drink and conversation with old friends, and there are high energy favorites that inspire you to dance. Whether on your feet or sitting back, you are taken to a time when feelings, reflection and community were not so overwhelmed by the rush of technology.

Vocalist Mary Sherhart has an outstanding reputation in the Balkan music scene as a performer, teacher, choral director and producer. She is joined by musicians and vocalists well established in the Balkan music scene: Joe Finn, fiddle and clarinet, Michael Lawson, accordion and vocals, Steve Ramsey, bugarija, guitar, tambura and vocals, and Rich Thomas, bass and vocals.

The Evening:

5:30 pm -	Doors open
6:00 pm -	Balkan Cabaret plays a "listening" set. A limited number of deli meats for sandwiches, vegetable trays, snacks, deserts, & beverages will be available. Your donation is appreciated to cover the cost of food. Or bring your own picnic dinner and enjoy it while listening to Balkan Cabaret. Sorry, no alcohol is permitted in this facility.
7:00 pm - 9:00 pm	Balkan Cabaret plays for your dancing and listening pleasure.

Other things you should know:

The Michael Solomon Pavilion, known for its beautiful maple wood dance floor, is not air-conditioned. However, one side of the building is opened to screens during the summer, and there are lots of ceiling fans and floor fans.

We encourage you to dress cool and lots of water is available.

Smoking is not permitted in the building.

Alcohol is not permitted in the building or the parking lot.
