Roo Lester is recognized nationally for her experience in Scandinavian dance. She is co-director of Scandia Camp Mendocino, Consultant for Scandinavian events at Folklore Village, USA Registrar for Norrlandia Camp in Hälsingland, Sweden, and teaches at numerous venues in the USA. She has placed well in dance competitions in Norway and has already achieved a “Silver Medal” in Swedish polska dancing. Roo has a master's degree in Dance, Ethnology focus, from UCLA. And if that is not enough, she taught Alan Alda to dance schottis for an episode on the TV series MASH.

In addition to Scandinavian dances, Roo also teaches other international folk dances. In this mini-workshop, she will teach a variety of both non-couple and couple dances. Roo's teaching style is very welcoming and dancer-friendly.
